

A SPECIAL DAY

20 July 1969 is the unbelievable day when happened something that I must remind everyone too young to be able to say “We’ve reached the moon, it’ll stick in our mind”.

World’s eyes were pointed that awesome day to a live TV program waiting to find some television presenter ready to say “We’ve reached the moon, it’ll stick in our mind”.

Neil Armstrong got off the Apollo 11 that great day and walked on the ball that goes around the human kind “It’s a small step for a man” he chose to say but above all “a giant leap for mankind”.

Everyone celebrated happily that amazing day with shouts of joy, hugs and smiles of every kind
but above all “a giant leap for mankind”.
